

Leestown Middle Summer Reading

7th grade- Connecting to Literature

We want you to find a book that fits you! Review the themes and find one that interests you. Then, choose ONE book that fits one of the themes listed below, read it, and complete the assignments on the back. All work is due the first week of school! Enjoy!

Themes: Family Upheavals, Friendship, Humor, Rebellion, Sports and Competition, Surviving Against the Odds

Note – Not EVERY book by the authors will necessarily fit under the themes listed. However, most will and all chapter books by these authors will be accepted for summer reading credit. Included (in parentheses) are some suggested titles, but, again, all chapter books by these authors will be accepted for summer reading credit, as well as any chapter books that fit the themes listed above.

Assignments:

Before Reading: Write a paragraph that explains how and why you chose your book. What about this book interested you?

After Reading: Choose 3 events and / or characters and connect with them in some way. For each event/character discussed, write at least a paragraph. This will total 3 paragraphs. (Note: Please do not just describe the characters or summarize the book; make a connection to characters and/or events.)

Use these questions to guide you, though many other connections can be made. Have you had similar experiences? Do you have similar personality traits? Do you have similar parents or family members? If you were in this situation, would you react the same way?
